*1690 Site of British
North America's First
Paper Mill*

Since 1984, Historic RittenhouseTown has welcomed thousands of area youth to our unique 18th-century milling town. Students experience colonial domestic life & industry by cooking in the ca. 1725 Bake House, learning about the children who lived in the village in the 18th century & making paper using the same tools & techniques utilized by the Rittenhouse family 300 years ago. Our program meets Pennsylvania & Philadelphia School District Core Curriculum requirements & accommodates most age groups.

A portion of your Historic RittenhouseTown membership will subsidize the transportation costs & fees for underserved Philadelphia public schools wishing to take advantage of our programming to supplement their in class instruction but are unable to pay.

Our history is a vital part of who we are as a nation.

Helping us sustain our National Historic Landmark District for today's youth & future generations is a mission worth supporting.
